

CMA UPDATE

The Competition & Markets Authority Funerals Market Investigation Timetable for 2020

JANUARY

Working papers, giving an indication into the CMA panel's thinking about the future regulation of the funeral sector will be published between January to March 2020.

FEBRUARY

In February's edition of this magazine, there will be a feature setting out some of the possible outcomes of the market investigation and how they could affect the funeral sector, together with recommendations that the NAFD is making to the CMA.

APRIL

The CMA's provisional findings report will be published in April/May 2020.

MAY

The CMA has been invited to present its provisional findings to NAFD Conference in May 2020.

SEPTEMBER

The CMA's statutory deadline for publishing their final recommendations to government is 27 September 2020.

Get involved

Have your say on the future regulation of funerals

It is very important that members engage with the CMA in responding to their provisional findings.

The outcome of the market investigation will shape the future regulation of funeral businesses.

The NAFD will continue to keep members fully briefed on all opportunities to participate in the market investigation.

Find out more

There will be regular updates in this magazines and emails to members.

You can also visit:

www.gov.uk/cma-cases/funeralsmarket-study